Joint port, school board, county meeting could lack input from some school board members

BY DENA BISNETTE

A joint meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and Hancock County School Board has been scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Monday, but may not include all of the school board members.

The meeting, a discussion of a proposed site for a new county high school, had been requested during Tuesday's board of supervisors meeting by Port and Harbor Executive Director Harold Olsen after he explained why the commission feels that the school should not be built on the proposed site.

The site is at Stennis Airport and is adjacent to an existing vocational-technical school operated by the Hancock County School District and Pearl River Junior College.

Olsen contended that having the additional school there would hamper further development of the airport industrial park.

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph and Hancock County School Board President Frank Miller, however, have both stated that having the school across from the existing vocational school will cut down on bus costs and scheduling problems for students who must be transported from Hancock North Central to the center, as well as provide benefits such as extended course offerings by the junior college.

Board of Supervisors President James Travirca confirmed the time Monday despite statements by Randolph that school board members may not be able to attend the meeting.

Olsen was out of town and could not be reached for comment, but Port and Harbor Commission President Ronald Artigues said that, to his knowledge, the joint meeting would still take place.

Randolph had objected to such a meeting in the first place on grounds that the question could be rendered moot within 30 days if the State Educational Finance Commission fails to approve $600,000 for the project.

Randolph said some of the school board members, who have a 4 p.m. preconstruction conference regarding a new building at Gulfview Elementary School and a regularly scheduled meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m., could not meet at 4:30.

He said the board would meet with the Port and Harbor commissioners if the commission requested time on the Monday night agenda.

Randolph said Friday at about noon that agenda requests are usually not accepted for a Monday meeting after the preceding Thursday but that he would try to contact school board members if a Port and Harbor request came in Friday afternoon.

According to both Olsen and Randolph, the Port and Harbor commission originally objected to the site when the matter was first brought up about two years ago and still concerned one of several previously considered sites, which belongs to the Crump family.

The property for the proposed site finally accepted by a 3-2 vote of the school board is at this point still privately owned by the White family.

Randolph alleged that despite the previous objection, the commission never attempted to acquire either the Crump property or the White property.

Although the matter of site selection for the school had been published in newspapers and publicly discussed, Randolph said the commission never made its objections known until Olsen attended the supervisors' meeting.

Miller, however, said he had met with Olsen privately the day before the Port and Harbor director had addressed the supervisors and that he felt he clearly understood exactly what the commission's objections were.

Miller said he had not been contacted since the conversation with Olsen, except by a board of supervisors secretary who had informed him of the time and date of the joint meeting.

"Apparently, there was no consideration of the board members and their schedules," Miller said, explaining that he can not attend the 4:30 meeting and feels it will probably be difficult for two other board members who work outside Hancock County to do so.

He said he would have no objection.

Fire ant infestation is rapidly increasing problem in county

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The number of calls at the Hancock County Extension office lately from persons with insect problems has increased recently.

County Agent Lee Taylor says increased activity of fire ants in Hancock County is the reason for many of these calls.

"We have had a lot of calls from people from people who have had fire ants in their homes," he added. This problem can be halted with a chemical spray in the home but the spray must be kept off all food and pets, Taylor said.

"But to prevent the fire ants from coming back in the house you should track down the mound and destroy it," he added.

"We have even had people concerned about putting cattle in pastures with high counts of mounds," Taylor said.

He said this can be a real concern in calving season and in harvesting hay.

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Entomologist Dr. Pat Harris says fire ants are the number one pest for homeowners.

"Fire ants are also causing severe problems in pasture land and in field crops," he added.

According to Harris, fire ants have infested more than 230 million acres in the United States.

This acreage includes 74 of the counties in Mississippi and probably every acre in Hancock County, Harris said.

"The only Mississippi counties not seriously infested with fire ants are six counties located in the northwestern corner of the state," he added.

Currently eight states are infested with fire ants, these include Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Louisiana.

"Occasionally, fire ant colonies begin in Tennessee and Kentucky but the ants die out during the cold weather," Harris said.

Fire ants can generally survive only in a tropical climate or areas like in the southern United States where the temperature drops below 40 degrees Fahrenheit very infrequently, he said.

"Until the fire ants become able to tolerate the colder temperatures in the northern states they will not be a problem in these areas," Harris said.

Because the area affected by the fire ants is somewhat limited is one of the reasons there has not been any national program to try and eradicate the pests, according to Harris.

"There has not been enough legislative support to begin a program to eradicate the problem of fire ants and until there is such support they will not be stopped," Harris added.

Harris said organizations which had been trying to deal with the problems had "given up" because it is an impossible task with the chemicals available today and because the problem is so wide spread.

It is only a "matter of time" until fire ants are spread in to western states including California, he said.

"Maybe then there will be more legislative support to deal with this problem," Harris said.

Harris said it is not to late in the season to begin treatments to destroy fire ant mounds.

"Colonies generally start in the fall and there can be as many as 200-300 mounds per acre with as many as 150 queen egg-producing ants per mound," he said.

Colonies grow very rapidly, according to Harris, and reach the age of maturity in approximately three years.

"An untreated mound can have 11,000 worker ants in the first year, 30,000 in the six months, and 250,000 in the second to third year," Harris said.

A mature mound may have as many as 150 queens which can all fly off and start mounds of their own, he added.

There are currently four species of fire ants in Mississippi. These include two native species, the regular fire ant and the southern fire ant as well as two imported species, the black fire ant and the red fire ant.

Harris says the most problems are caused by the imported red fire ant.

According to Taylor, at least two of the species of fire ants have been

School board splits vote 3-2 on complaint

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board has rendered a split decision regarding a Fifth Grade Center teacher who has asked to be reassigned for medical reasons.

Teacher Dennis Barcelona went before the board at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon and asked that he be assigned to something more similar to his previous assignment as a physical education coach because chronic vision problems cause him difficulty in handling the amount of paperwork he is required to do as a regular classroom teacher.

Barcelona said he had discussed the matter with Superintendent of Education Roger Oge and has statements from his doctor attesting to the problem.

The teacher said he has had surgery for his condition several times and has been on extended sick leave with the exception of one day since the current school term began.

He said he had applied for a new position created for the current school year, elementary physical education coordinator, contending that his experience suits him for the job and that his vision problems would not interfere with such work.

However, the job was filled by someone from outside the school district, and Barcelona told the board that he believes board policy was not followed in hiring that person.

"I don't want this person's job, but I want to work," he stated.

Barcelona's teaching certification covers his current position, but his experience is more geared to physical education. He spent 11 years at Bay Junior High as P.E. coach and social studies teacher, coached two years at Waveland Elementary until that school's sports program was discontinued and then continued as a social studies teacher and P.E. coach, then was assigned to the Fifth Grade Center last year as a P.E. coach.

When he took the job at the Fifth Grade Center, "It was supposed to be strictly P.E., but there was a lot of shuffling at first and I ended up in a self-contained classroom," the coach stated.

He added that he began having difficulty with close reading and paperwork last year, but that he had talked with Oge and the superintendent had "asked me to hang in there, and I did."

Barcelona said he feels it is not good for the students to have him as a teacher in his present situation.

The teacher said he feels board policy was violated in filling the elementary P.E. slot in question because "the job was never posted, and the board policy says it should be offered first to people already inside the system," and because the job was never advertised.

Oge said he did not realize that the job had not been posted, although it was supposed to have been.

Barcelona offered the board several alternatives, including reassignment, temporary leave until a suitable position could be found, extended sick leave or medical disability retirement.

The board, however, considered only the reassignment alternative on Tuesday, and requested by a 3-2 vote that Oge find a suitable position for Barcelona within the school system.

Oge, however, stated that he believes there are no positions available that do not include a great deal of paperwork now that Instructional Management Plans are required.

Board member Reginald Robinson, who voted to request that Oge find a position suitable for Barcelona along with Linda Penrose and Board President Betty Diboll, asked if there are presently any such positions open and Oge said he does not know of any.

Charles Benvenuti, who with board member L.D. Carter voted against the move, said he feels that the board, after going through several hearings regarding teacher contract nonrenewals earlier this year, is being influenced in its decision by fear of a lawsuit.

He said he is opposed to creating a new position for Barcelona or anyone else, particularly because there is about $25,000 involved in adding a new person.

Benvenuti pointed out that making a position for Barcelona elsewhere would cost the district salary and benefits for an in-classroom teacher to fill his present position.

"Where is the $25,000 going to come from?" he asked Diboll.

Carter said he, too, is opposed to creating a new position but did not have a problem with the idea of reassigning Barcelona if an existing position is found.

"What do we do if we can't find one?" he asked the board.

Penrose said the board could take any necessary action on that matter later if a job for Barcelona can not be found.

Diboll said, "In this school district, with our rate of teacher absenteeism, we can put him to good use every day."

She then criticized the internal communications of the school district, stating that Barcelona would not be in his present situation if better internal communications had existed.

She also said she felt Barcelona had made a correct move in informing both Oge and his supervising principals about his vision problems.

The board's next regular meeting is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 12, at 7 p.m. in the superintendent's boardroom at Bay Senior High School.

Taylor and Harris recommend a variety of chemicals to destroy the mounds including Sevin, Dursban and Diazinon, which are "quick-kill" mound drenching sprays which immediately kill the ants.

"You can supplement this treatment with granular mound treatments such as Logic, Amdro and Affirm, which act as regulators to prevent the production of eggs by the queen," Harris said.

"In the past the county has purchased these chemicals and distributed the fire ant bait but this program was eliminated a couple of years ago," Taylor said.

"In this program a few people were able to get rid of the fire ants on their property but until there is a concentrated effort to solve the problem this is just a bandaid approach," he added.

Taylor warns parents with small children to be especially careful and not leave these children alone near ant beds.

"This can result in severe stings and possibly death," he added.

Taylor also said persons allergic to insects should be extra careful to avoid contact with fire ants.

tions to meeting with the commission or the supervisors as part of a school board meeting.

He added that he has no problem with the idea of changing the meeting place to a larger room if one is needed to accommodate all three boards.

The board of supervisors meeting room in the Hancock County Courthouse will be used Monday because it is the largest of the three boardrooms.

Randolph said he feels the controversy over the site will not affect the district's application to the Educational Finance Commission for $600,000 in funding, nor is it the same controversy that came up earlier in site selection when some residents of the county school district objected to the issuance of $6.6 million in bonds.

"School site selection is one of the most emotional issues in which a school district can become involved," the superintendent said.

"There was the same issue over the hospital site and over the jail site. Some people don't seem to remember that they wanted the hospital built in Waveland, or that they said the jail shouldn't be where it is."

He said he feels it was not a proper move for the supervisors to set up the joint meeting without leaving him time to present the matter to the board members or find out if they could attend.

he also said he would not be opposed to any other 40-acre site that offered the same advantages as the White property and fit the bond issue requirement of being located "in the vicinity of Stennis Airport."

"It's a matter of the board's integrity due to the fact that the bonds were issued for this general area," he said. "If the school is moved too much from this site, then the board could lose some of its credibility with the public about its intentions when the bonds were issued."

Correction

A headline in Thursday's Sea Coast Echo inadvertently stated the City of Bay St. Louis would provide grandstands for the U.S. Navy Show Band free concert Wednesday on the City Hall grounds.

According to Tyson McMahon, president of the Downtown Merchants Association which is sponsoring the event, the city will set up a city-owned raised platform to serve as a stage on the site and provide a dancing area on the City Hall tennis court.

Concert goers are urged to bring their own seats or ground cover.

Public TV spotlights new research on concerns of the elderly

Demographers project that by the middle of the next century, there will be sixty million people over the age of sixty-five. Will they enjoy a healthy old age? Statistically, an eighty-year-old is one thousand times more likely to get cancer—a crippling expensive illness—than an eight-year-old.

Public television looks at medicine's herculean efforts to give a positive answer to the question in the third program of The Health Century, the four-part series marking the centennial of the National Institutes of Health. It airs Oct. 5 at 10 p.m. on PBS. (Check local listings).

Nowhere is the explosion of medical knowledge more evident than among those who comprehend the workings of the brain. Much of what science can do to alleviate the diseases is aided by a better understanding of the aging process. Dr. Robert Sapolsky at Stanford University in Palo Alto, California, looks at the relationship of acute stress to deterioration of brain cells as people age. Dr. Fernando Nottebohm of Rockefeller University has discovered that some songbirds rejuvenate the numbers of neurons in their brains each spring and learn new songs. Is the human brain, long thought to be irrevocably losing cells over time, capable of such neurogenesis?

Organ failure often comes with old age. Organ replacement whether by transplant or artificial organs, may offer renewed hope to otherwise healthy older people. As doctors perfect the techniques of transplantation, for example, the ability of the patient to survive the surgery and subsequent drug therapy has become a more important factor than chronological age in determining suitability for an organ transplant.

Featured in The Health Century's look at organ replacement are Dr. Willem Kolff of the University of Utah, Dr. Thomas Starzl of the University of Pittsburgh, who is seen performing a liver transplant, Dr. William Pierce of Penn State University at Hershey, Pennsylvania, and Dr. Norman Shumway at Stanford University.

Dr. Kolff, who has been called "father of the artificial heart," constructed the first kidney dialysis machine during World War II using, among other things, some wood slats and cellophane. He began his work on the artificial heart in the 1950's. Dr. Pierce has been working on the "Penn State Heart" for twenty-five years. One of his patients at Hershey, Richard Creswell, lived for 397 days on the Penn State artificial heart. Dr. Shumway, whose 400-odd heart transplants includes

America's first, believes that the artificial heart is best used as a bridge to help patients live until a donor heart can be found.

Alzheimer's Disease is understood today to be a tragedy afflicting many millions who would have simply been diagnosed as senile in years past. Even today, diagnosis is difficult and a positive diagnosis of Alzheimer's Disease is usually made after the patient has died.

Using techniques of molecular biology, Dr. James Gusella at Massachusetts General Hospital has found a genetic marker that may aid in the genetic diagnosis of Alzheimer's Disease while victims are alive. This is important for sufferers of other forms of dementia whose illness may be treatable.

Dr. Thomas Chase at the National Institutes of Health is experimenting with drugs and using pet scan equipment in the hope of making diagnoses and alleviating symptoms.

A veritable arm of scientists is working to conquer cancer. Doctors Michael Bishop and Harold Varmus at the University of California at San Francisco are using retroviruses to study the behavior of genes within cancer cells. The work is an example of how the study of infectious disease—and the understanding of retroviruses—and genetics have become intertwined in the fight against illness. Immunology, a discipline born in the study of infectious disease and applied again in organ transplantation, is now also making its mark in the treatment of cancers of the colon, liver, and kidney.

Others who appear in this program are Dr. Stephen Carter, director of cancer research at Bristol-Myers, who seeks drugs which may have the potential to be effective cancer therapies, and Dr. Richard Edelson, at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut, who is using ultraviolet light to treat cancer.

After ultraviolet treatment of cancerous blood, the body appears to make use of treated cells to destroy other diseased cells. He thinks this procedure may also prove effective in the treatment of such auto-immune diseases as rheumatoid arthritis and in organ transplants.

The Health Century is produced by the Blackwell Corporation, a leading independent supplier for programming for PBS. David Roland, executive vice president of The Blackwell Corporation, is series producer of The Health Century. Program Three was produced by Mike Jackson.

The Health Century is underwritten by these partners in the research enterprise: American Home Products Corporation, Bristol-Myers Company, Burroughs Wellcome Co., CIBA-GEIGY Corporation, Eli Lilly and Company, Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., Howard Hughes Medical Institute, Johnson and Johnson, Merck & Co., Inc., Pfizer Inc., Schering-Plough Foundation, SmithKline Beckman Corporation, Squibb Corporation, the Upjohn company, and Warner-Lambert Company.

DR. THOMAS STARZL, renowned for his work in liver transplants, operates on a patient. He is director of Transplant Services at Presbyterian-University Hospital of Pittsburgh and is featured in Program Three of The Health Century. It airs over PBS on Oct. 5 at 10 p.m.

School location needs to be fully studied

In recent days we have heard several residents discussing what they felt would be mostly disadvantages and not too many advantages of having a high school constructed adjacent to an airport industrial park.

True, as it now stands, there is little air traffic at Stennis International Airport, but what amount of traffic will be in the area 10, 20 or 30 years from now?

One of the reasons we heard several months ago about a need to surface the Texas Flat Road was that it would make easy access to the airport from the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

During the time of a conflict, ammunition could be manufactured and be delivered throughout the world in just a day or two.

One of the plans for the airport several years ago was for the possible transport of cattle to South America. This deal fell through, yet there are other possibilities of international trade through our airport.

There are many possibilities when one considers the out-growing of airports in cities such as New Orleans.

One of the favorable comments we heard about a school being constructed near the airport was the access to the Vo-Tech.

The Vo-Tech is a corporative venture with Pearl River Junior College and could extend its course offerings in both vocational and academic fields.

It is very important for all issues to be weighed before property is purchased for a new high school. Once a school is constructed it is very hard to change locations.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIANS

NATCHEZ TRACE NEARING COMPLETION

On May 18, 1938, the U.S. Congress authorized the development of the Natchez Trace Parkway as an elongated park stretching 449 miles from Nashville to Natchez. The Parkway would be both an historic and scenic park area, while providing a much-needed transportation link from Tennessee into southwest Mississippi.

For nearly 50 years, this vital project has been in the works. The 45,732 acre park which includes portions of Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, has already become an important incentive to tourism with approximately 20,000 visitors each year.

Today, 386 miles of the Natchez Trace are complete. Only three sections - 15 miles around Jackson, 9 miles into Natchez, and 39 miles into Nashville - remain to be completed.

Congress has continued to be firmly committed to funding this project through the years. Despite a lack of support from various Administrations over the last 20 years, the Natchez Trace Parkway project has continued to receive annual appropriations to complete the work.

Most recently, the Senate Appropriations Committee approved $13.2 million for continued construction of the Natchez Trace. The measure will be considered by the full Senate in the weeks ahead.

Our country is faced with many problems and limited resources. The very "bigness" of government has added to the problem. However, it is vital that we remain committed to projects such as the Natchez Trace until we see them completed.

With the completion of the Parkway from Nashville to Natchez officials predict that the number of tourists into the state will increase. Travelers will be drawn into the state by the greater access of the road through the three-state region.

The growth of Mississippi's tourism industry, already the third largest in the state, will benefit both the state economy and local communities. Tourists along the Parkway will translate into tax revenues and much-needed jobs for Mississippians.

The Natchez Trace cannot really reach its full potential as a national historic and scenic parkway until it is finished. I will continue to push for the speedy completion of the project which has been so beneficial for all of Mississippi.

THERE IT IS, ERNIE... OUR NEWSPAPER: PEOPLE
SERVING PEOPLE!

Your Newspaper: People Serving People

National Newspaper Week each year offers us an opportunity to recognize the unique and significant role newspapers play in helping to foster and preserve the rights and liberties of free citizens in our free society.

It is particularly fitting this year—the 200th anniversary of our Constitution—to reflect on the wisdom of our nation's founding fathers in recognizing the responsibility of a free, independent and unrestrained press to provide information that gives free citizens the means to make informed and responsible decisions.

In the words of James Madison, "Nothing could be more irrational than to give the people power, and to withhold from them information."

In the United States each day more than 400,000 newspaper men and women go about their jobs writing, editing, printing and distributing news and information to their fellow citizens, their neighbors, friends, relatives, countrymen.

Simply defined, and I believe in keeping with the spirit of our Constitution, newspapers are basically people serving people, providing not only news and information with which to evaluate significant, local, national and international events, but also facts, opinions, advertisements, schedules, advice and other information to help people plan and conduct their daily lives, to lead better lives, safely and successfully.

Newspaper people, keenly aware of the high degree of responsibility they bear as guardians of the peoples' right to freedom of the press, strive hard to fulfill that responsibility.

And we must continue to give our very best to improve our performance, to produce the best newspaper within our capabilities, to provide the information and analysis our readers want and need to make responsible, intelligent and effective decisions.

We who are privileged to work in the newspaper business accept our responsibilities and daily challenges and will continue to strive to improve our performance by upgrading the professional competence of our people, our reporters, editors, managers, production, sales and distribution people—and by utilizing the latest technological advances in collecting, storing, printing and distributing accurate and timely information to our readers as efficiently as possible.

As we observe National Newspaper Week, we take this opportunity to pay tribute to the dedicated newspaper people who, in the performance of their daily jobs, actually make our free press the unique and effective democratic instrument our founding fathers envisioned.

Your newspaper, people serving people, epitomizes the spirit and intent of our Constitutional heritage of a free press serving to protect the rights, freedoms and security of free citizens in our free society.

Quotables by CUEVAS

We are right now in the middle of a nationwide public awareness program focused on problems and environmental consequences of marine litter.

The Bureau of Marine Resources and Gulf Islands National Seashore (National Park Service) is soliciting the help of everyone to curb the growing problems and hazards of marine litter, even as experienced in our coastal area.

The invention of plastic has caused the death of an increasing number of coastal birds, fish and mammals every year.

We, as citizens, can help in many ways, and one would be not to toss any type of litter or debris into our waters.

If everyone, especially boaters and beach-goers would shoulder the responsibility of making our beaches and coastal waters cleaner, in time we could all see an improvement.

Plastics appear to be a great enemy to birds, fish and mammals, as they become entangled, snarled, and even mistake plastic for food.

And then there is numerous debris fouling pro-pellers of boats, both commercial and recreational.

The eyesore of it all needs to be added. Let us all band together to clean up our waterways.

A special free treat for the residents of the area will be provided by the famous Navy Band on Wednesday night at the park behind the Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The band sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Downtown Merchants Association will begin the concert featuring music from the 40's to 80's at 6:30 p.m.

Spectators are urged to bring a blanket or ground cover or lawn chair to enjoy an evening relaxing to good music.

This will also be a chance for you to hear the newly-formed Bay High School Show Chorus under the direction of Diane Flowers during intermission.

We hope to see you all on Wednesday night.

Fire Prevention Week

October 4-10, 1987

It's Fire Prevention Week this week...so, "Play it Safe...Plan Your Escape."

This year's event focuses on home fire escape planning and preparedness, according to Chief David A. Garcia of the Waveland Fire Department.

"Set aside time during the week to develop and practice a home fire escape plan," Garcia urges all families.

Bay St. Louis fire Chief Andrew Lizana said his department this year during Fire Prevention Week will step up its year-round program of visiting schools in the city where instructional sessions are conducted on various aspects of fire safety, including escape routes, fire extinguisher use and especially prevention such as not playing with matches or not smoking in bed.

Lizana said fire station visits in Bay St. Louis can be arranged by calling 467-4736.

Traditionally, communities across the country have set aside 8 p.m. on Wednesday of Fire Prevention Week to develop a home fire escape plan. The family then has the remainder of the week to make sure everyone is familiar with the plan and has sufficient time to practice.

Waveland Fire Department will host an open house Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon.

"Visit the fire house, meet your firefighters, pick up free literature and fire safety information at Waveland Central Fire Station on Gulfside Drive," Garcia said.

A fire safety display will be set up in the central fire station during Saturday's open house.

Fire Prevention Week was first proclaimed by President Warren G. Harding in 1922 to commemorate the "Great Chicago Fire of 1871" in which 250 people were killed, 100,000 left homeless and more than 17,400 buildings destroyed.

Also on the same day of the "Chicago Fire" the town of Pestigo, Wisc. burned and 1,200 people perished. Since then the fire service, schools and civic organizations throughout the country have been sponsoring the event to draw public attention to the devastating effects of fire and the importance of fire prevention activities.

This year in Hancock County the various fire departments will be conducting fire safety programs in the schools, in some of the supermarkets, and public service announcements on radio and television.

In 1986 there were 5,850 people in this country who died of fire and of those 80 percent died in their own homes. Because of this, fire safety officials are urging all families to develop and practice a home fire escape plan during National Fire Prevention Week.

Installing smoke detectors and a family escape plan are the two most important factors in preventing fire deaths should your home catch fire. There are many people alive today because of preparedness and public education. This includes those who remember the "stop, drop and roll" program taught by fire fighters to our children in school.

The following steps are suggested for families developing a home fire escape plan.

1. Gather the entire family together to develop the plan.
2. Plan and draw your escape plan using at least two escape routes.
3. Plan a place where everyone will meet once out of the building.
4. Make sure all members know this plan.
5. Practice the plan.
6. Point out and test smoke detectors.
7. Memorize the fire department phone number and your address.
8. Do not phone the fire department until you are safely out of house; use a neighbor's phone.
9. Crawl low in smoke.
10. Before opening doors, test them for fire, a warm or hot door means there is fire on the other side, if so, use alternate route.
11. Make sure children can open windows and lower themselves to ground if necessary.
12. Get out fast! And don't, under any circumstances, go back into a burning building.

If you need any further information or assistance in developing a home fire escape plan contact your local fire department and they will gladly assist you in any way they can. Phone numbers include 467-4736, Bay St. Louis Fire Department; 467-2042, Waveland Fire Department; 467-9226, Hancock County Fire Marshal; and 255-1314, Diamondhead Fire Department.

Airport, school noncompatible neighbors

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Ref: Proposed school at the Stennis site

Dear Editor:
For whatever it may be worth, I would like to relate to you my past experience in connection with a school located close to an airport.

When Andrews Air Force Base in Forestville, Md. (outside Washington, D.C.) was built in the late 1930's, quite a large tract of land was purchased and was thought to be more than adequate to handle all air traffic with no problem.

As years went by (1960) the planes became larger and more frequent. Runways were extended and still planes have to come into and take off at low altitudes.

An elementary school was about 1 or 2 miles away, but was under the glide path of the planes using one of the runways. The decibel noise level of these planes became so high, the teachers could not be heard by the children and they would have to stop speaking until it went by. This happened many times each hour.

The parents were shocked when they spent a day at school. It was affecting both the students and the teachers, but nothing was done even though parents and teachers did a lot of protesting to the government.

Then one day, one of the training planes stalled during takeoff. The pilot knew if he ejected, the plane could conceivably crash into the school, so he stayed with the plane and crashed into a nearby meadow. The school erected a plaque to his memory, and it brought attention to the situation. A new school was built away from the runway patterns. Now that area is restricted to warehouses and businesses with low density population.

A similar situation could conceivably happen at the Stennis site, if the airport expands and large cargo is moved in or out. The noise alone is terrific.

I hope the planners of Hancock County think ahead not only for potential growth, but for the children's sake, as my grandchildren may someday be attending that school.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elizabeth Ogden

CONCERNED RESIDENTS—Several residents from Hancock County recently visited U.S. Senator John Stennis at his DeKalb residence. The group discussed with Senator Stennis the proposed bill before the Senate amending the Catastrophic Medicare Care Bill for Senior Citizens. Surveys indicate the bill would only benefit one out of seven Senior Citizens. It is estimated to cost from one to seven billion dollars annually with

Coast Electric schedules membership meeting

Member-owners of Coast Electric Power Association will gather at the Hancock County Fairgrounds for the 50th annual Members' Meeting Thursday.

Robert Occhi, general manager, invites members to come to this year's meeting and join in the celebration of the Association's 50th Anniversary.

"The members of Coast Electric have the privilege of being able to participate in the operation of their business. This benefit of membership in a cooperative is unique and unavailable to most electric power users," he added.

Coast Electric provides electric service to rural and urban areas in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties. "Electricity has brought modern conveniences, steady growth and continued development to rural South Mississippi," states Occhi.

Hancock County Fairgrounds is located on Longfellow Road in Bay St. Louis. The Association holds its member meetings in the county where the cooperative was originally chartered.

Those Coast Electric members attending this meeting will be advised of the condition of the cooperative, hear reports from their board of officers and elect three members to serve as directors on the association's governing board of directors.

Registration will begin at 5:30 p.m. and continue until 7 p.m. All registered members will be eligible for various prizes. Following the business session, the drawing for special grand prizes will be conducted. Coast Electric members may win a 19 inch color TV or a hunter ceiling fan.

According to Occhi, "Coast Electric consumers are more than customers. They are member-owners, interested in their cooperative. That's part of the reason for our success."

Coast Electric is a private, non profit electric cooperative which provides electricity to over 39,000 members and their families who reside in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties.

All of us together must ensure a free press

Community newspapers in this year of the Bicentennial of our Constitution conclude their annual National Newspaper Association convention in Portland, Oregon, October 3—a good kick-off for National Newspaper Week, October 4-10.

The idea of a free press is a uniquely American concept. But the concept of a free press is not an end in itself. Rather it is a means toward the maintenance of a free society, the right of each of us to be informed of what's going on, whether in Washington, at the state capitol or here on Main Street.

There are more than 8,000 newspapers in the United States, many like this one, others larger, others smaller. National Newspaper Week calls attention to the fact that all of us are committed to bringing you accurate, timely information so you can cope with the challenges of living, at all levels, especially in this community.

In our papers, we not only bring you news of what has or is happening, but also what is available in the marketplace of the community, in goods, services, homes, jobs. Our public notices help alert you to actions of local governments and boards.

And, in our letters column, you have the freedom to express your ideas, and to disagree with us. This dialog, too, is uniquely American.

Observing National Newspaper Week is not just a time for a self-praising observance of this paper. It takes many people to bring you this paper regularly: not just the more apparent members of the staff, the publisher, editor and news staff. It brings you a free, responsible newspaper is also the commitment of our circulation staff members who make sure you get your paper on time, our advertising people who bring you information on the latest buys and services in the area, our production staff members who set the type, build the pages, make the plates, run the presses, and address and bundle the papers.

And a free press requires your support too.

All of us together must ensure a strong, free press, because without it we cannot have a strong, free society. This is not a matter for a one-week observance. Nor is it a matter for only those of us who are in the newspaper business because freedom of the press in a free society is everyone's freedom.

USO provides 'home away from home' to Hancock residents on military duty

Editor's Note: Following is the twelfth in a series of articles being presented by the Sea Coast Echo on agencies which are partially funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The local United Way 1987 fundraising drive is currently underway. Lonnie Clayborn of Waveland is chairman of this year's drive. The goal is $65,000.

"Military Mention" is a regular feature of this newspaper, whereby the reader is introduced to the young people of Hancock County who have enlisted with our armed services.

The feature evokes mixed emotions of pride and concern in its readers.

While we are so proud to see our Hancock County youth enlist in service to our country, at the same time we want to keep them here at home where life seems predictable and safe compared to what can happen in military life "over there."

It isn't always possible to keep our enlisted personnel close to home, so the next best thing is to try to provide them with a "home away from home"—the USO.

The remainder of this article, with few changes, is taken directly from a letter written by Dennis P. Long, USO chairman, to Conrad Maufrey, executive director of Hancock County United Way.

"Since answering the call to action from President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941, the United Services Organization has been a Congressionally chartered, voluntary civilian agency, devoted exclusively to the human service needs of military personnel and their families.

"Today, over 2.1 million Americans wear an armed service uniform. Their spouses and children add another 2.8 million to the military community. Most military personnel are between the ages of 18 and 25 years, and more than a million of these are in the lowest paid ranks of E-1 through E-4.

"At any given time, over 820,000 men and women—plus their families—are stationed outside the continental U.S., where they face the problems of culture shock, frequent relocations, and long separation from their loved ones. In addition, because of the junior rank, many

E-1/E-4 personnel must live off-base, in the civilian community.

"Where do these military families look for a helping hand? For nearly half a century, they have relied on USO!

"USO is a Hancock County United Way Agency, whose mission is to enhance the quality of life of American military personnel and their families.

"It takes the care and concern of the hometown to the military "wherever they go," with a special focus on the needs of the young, enlisted members and their families. USO takes United Way funded programs to locations all over the world—from the DMZ to Okinawa to the Mediterranean and Iceland.

"With almost 50 years of service experience in serving as a bridge for mutual understanding and interaction between the military and civilian communities, USO, through the United Way, continues to be the link between the hometown that does not want to forget its own, and the military person who does not want to be forgotten. USO services are needed now more than ever, because of the decline in federal money being spent for people programs.

"To secure funding for overseas operations, USO, in consultation with the United Way of America, has developed a "community share" formula. It is based upon the computed number of military and family members from the local community, and the prorated cost of USO services. Current information shows that the number for Hancock County is 574. USO's prorated cost is $2.56 per individual.

"The USO remembers that the military has made a commitment to be ready to fight and even die for the defense of our nation. It is in providing help to young military people, that USO also assists in paving the way to their becoming productive, contributing citizens upon their return home. Family Outreach, Information and Referral, Development, Intercultural Understanding, Fleet Services, Airport Services, and Newcomer Assistance are a few of the support programs that USO has developed in response to the unique needs of our young, transient, enlisted military personnel.

"The USA needs the USO, and USO needs Hancock County United Way. It is the significant partnership which assures our military citizens that the community remembers, appreciates and continues to embrace them, no matter where they must go to keep their commitment to us all."

Tigers swat Hornets 41-8 for homecoming victory

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay High Tigers wasted no time getting started Friday night on a 41-8 homecoming victory over the East Central Hornets.

The Tigers' Brian Laneaux grabbed the kick-off return at the Bay High seven yardline and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown without any close calls on his way down the field.

The play began a busy first half for the Tigers, posting 6-0 on the board after a PAT attempt failed.

With about 8:12 left in the first quarter, Laneaux, caught Chad LaFontaine's pitch-out from the left side and carried about 12 yards for a second touchdown. Joel Duncan added an extra point kick to bring the score to 13-0.

Dante Curry got into the act later in the first quarter, catching a LaFontaine pass and carrying it 28 yards down the right side of the field for another six points.

Duncan added a PAT kick and posted 20-0 on the scoreboard with 5:38 to go in the quarter.

The Tigers, slowed inside the East Central 10 by the Hornet defense, managed to line up on a fourth and two about midway through the second quarter and turned back to Laneaux for help.

Laneaux's response was to push the ball across the goal for a touchdown, racking up another six points. Duncan's kick brought the score to 27-0.

A pass from LaFontaine to Darrin Washington set up the Tigers on the Hornet 10 during third quarter action.

LaFontaine then handed off to Aaron Whavers, who ran it in to score again for the Tigers with 3:21 to go. Duncan's PAT upped the score to 34-0.

Andrew Collins scored Bay High's final touchdown of the night on a 30-yard run around the right side.

Duncan's kick, successful with 1:05 left in the third, finalized Bay High's score at 41 points.

The Hornets, however, had a surprise waiting in Ray Parsley, who grabbed the ball on the next possession and dashed in for 6 points and short yardage with a little more than two minutes remaining in the game.

He added another short run for a two-point conversion, bringing the score to 41-8.

"The Tigers played with a lot of intensity Friday night," Bay High Head Coach Cleveland Williams said. "We took a good game plan into our defeat of the Hornets."

"Our backs did a sufficient job of running the ball after our offensive line did a terrific job in the trenches opening holes."

The Tigers were able to rack up

600 total yards on offense.

"Chad LaFontaine's passing game has improved a lot. He completed five out of eight for a total of 98 yards. Each week we are trying to work a little more of a passing attack into our game plan," the coach said.

Laneaux had 10 carries for 203 yards while Andrew Collins carried six times for 87 yards. Whavers had seven for 74 yards.

Williams, who had predicted that the Tigers might have some trouble with the Hornet's balanced attack, said the defense did "an outstanding job" containing East Central on both fronts.

"Lance Bell led the team in tackles this week by applying so much pressure on the option, forcing the quarterback to pitch the ball for minus yardages," he said.

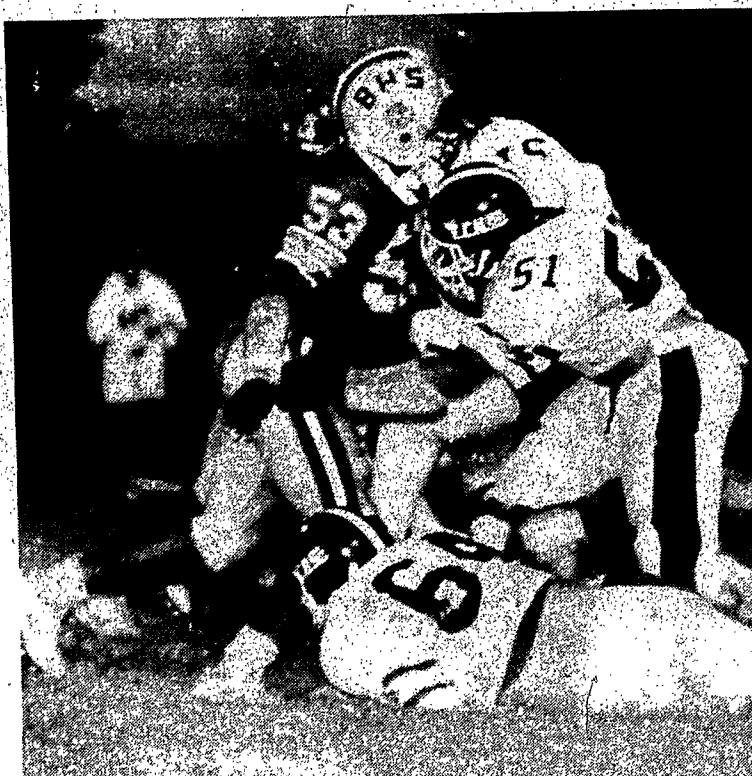

Bell had three sacks, nine assisted tackles and four unassisted tackles.

Williams commended several two-way players for their performance on both offense and defense, including Doug Rhodes, Monty Strong, Destin Brady, Andrew Collins, Ed Elliott, Aaron Whavers, Rickey Whavers, Amadee Collins and Jerry Island.

"We would also like to commend all of our young athletes who did a terrific job in contributing to the Tigers' victory," Williams said of the youngsters players who are not starters but gained field experience in the homecoming game.

Next week, the Tigers travel to Long Beach to face the Bearcats.

1987 Hancock North Central High School Homecoming Court

Hawks celebrate homecoming, defeat Rocks 55-12

The Hancock North Central Hawks celebrated their homecoming in grand style with a 55-12 win over the visiting St. Stanislaus Rockachaws Friday at Hawk stadium.

Coach Irvin Favre's offensive unit performed like a well-oiled piece of machinery in accumulating 458 yards of total offense against the Rocks.

It was a long night for Coach Ken Lyons and his Rockachaws. Based on past performances thus far this season, both squads were rated fairly equal in talent.

The Hawks came out eager to play football. After stopping the Rocks cold on their first offensive possession, the Hawks relied on Terrance Goff's punt return down to the SSC 19 yardline.

One play later, the Hawks were on the board on a reverse to running back Goff. The extra point was good and HNC led 7-0.

SSC took the kickoff back to their 14, but a personal foul brought the ball back to the SSC 7 yardline. The Rocks could not move the ball, and punted to Goff, who promptly returned it for another Hawk touchdown.

The extra point was good and HNC led 14-0 midway through the first quarter.

The Rockachaws maintained poor field position most of the evening due to fine kickoff coverage by the Hawks.

When the Hawks got the ball back for their third offensive series, Goff showcased his fine running ability by blasting off his left tackle for Hancock's third score of the first quarter.

By the end of the first quarter, Hancock North Central led 21-0.

The second quarter was only two minutes old when HNC quarterback Jeff Moran rolled to his left and hit Goff on a 52-yard scoring strike. Goff had gotten behind three Rockachaw defenders.

SSC desperately tried to move the football, but the Rocks fumbled deep in their territory and Rene Chaisson recovered at the SSC 27 yardline.

Coach Favre began to call running back Donald Vince's number, and Vince responded with a 5-yard touchdown run.

After the first conversion attempt was replayed, the kick strayed wide right and HNC took a 34-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The game plan implemented by the Hawks seemed to work to perfection as the offensive line opened big holes for Goff and Vince. On several occasions the Hawk running backs would shake two or three Rockachaw tacklers before being brought down.

The Hawks lost no momentum as the third quarter began. Donald Vince opened things up with a 56-yard run up the middle, and three plays later Vince scored from 14 yards out to put the Hawks up 41-0.

SSC returned the kickoff to their 22 yard line. Quarterback YaSin Shabazz found split end Freddie Wirstrom open for a 23-yard gain to the SSC 45 yardline.

Gino Ascani then ran off tackle for nine yards, and the Rockachaw offense began to gather first downs.

The Rocks continued to drive, and Shabazz hit flanker Shannon Garrett for a 19-yard touchdown strike. The two-point conversion was no good, and the Rocks were on the scoreboard, 41-6.

On the next Hawk possession, Goff fumbled in the secondary and cornerback Jerry Fackrell recovered and returned it to the Hawk 38 yardline.

Shabazz wasted no time finding Wirstrom in the corner of the end-zone for the second Rockachaw touchdown of the third quarter.

With three minutes left in the period, SSC trailed 41-12.

Hancock had no intention of letting the Rocks get back into the ballgame. Vince ran 30 yards off right tackle for Hancock's seventh score of the evening, putting the Hawks up 49-12.

Shabazz first pass of the next SSC offensive series was tipped by the receiver and intercepted by the Hawks.

HNC running back Clifton Carter made the final points for the Hawks as he ran nine yards around his right end. When the dust had settled, HNC emerged with a convincing 55-12 win over St. Stanislaus.

"Our boys executed well tonight," said HNC Head Coach Irvin Favre.

"We felt that if we took away the long gains by Ascani and Wirstrom, and kept them inside of our tackles, that we could win the game."

Defensive coaches Rocky Gaudin, Tim Favre, and Joe Shaw were all pleased with the Hawk performance.

"It's been a while since I've seen us play as inspired a first half as we did tonight. Our boys were ready to play, and didn't make many mistakes," added Coach Favre.

Next week the Rockachaws travel to Poplarville to play the Hornets for their homecoming, while Hancock North Central takes on district foe St. Martin.

Our Lady Academy in Bay Saint Louis is preparing for the fifth International Food Fest on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 10 and 11, at the corner of Beach Boulevard and US-90 from noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The OLA Parent Teacher Organization uses the Food Fest as the only activity to supplement the budget by raising funds to fill the gap between tuition and expenses and by adding extras—ie computers, electric typewriters, copy machines, and new lockers—for the school.

This project involves the entire Christian Community of Our Lady Academy with cooking, manning booths, selling tickets, and gathering ad money.

The 1987 Food Fest chairman is Dale Schill. She will be assisted by the following food booth chairmen: Mexican, Sharon Fagot; Oriental, Erlinda Alcalen; Cajan, John Chapman of Chappy's Restaurant in Long beach; French, Mary Baxter and Cynthia Allen; Italian, Pat Pitilo and Kathleen LeBlac; Greek, Joanne Kinney; American, Susie Lee and Millie Rutledge; Drinks, Carol Martinolich and John Chevis; Seafood, Theresa Braud, Mary Kay Hargett and Barbara Mitchell; and desserts, Barbara Fillingame and Pearl Peterman.

Dayle Gagnon, 467-3525, is the chairman in charge of renting space for displaying Arts and Crafts for sale. Around 40 exhibitors are planning to exhibit.

Jan Scardino, OLA senior and Student Council president, has been busy getting the high school girls in-involved in the Food Fest.

They will help Sister Jacqueline set-up, clean-up, and take down along with Bill Monti, Jim Braud, and Sidney Chevis.

The senior OLA girls have also been helping Sandy Kolodziej, Joan Dagnall and Margaret Boyce with newspaper ads.

The ticket booths for food and drinks and the $1,000 prize will be manned by OLA faculty.

Princess Fahey along with the Princess Shoppe Teen Board will be doing face painting.

Melana Strong and Joan Dagnall will be serving coffee and beignets starting at 7 a.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

The continuous live entertainment will include Bo and Dee, Juke Jumpers, Sharon Wilcox, gospel singer, The Whirlwinds Square Dance Club from Slidell, and the Colggers from Slidell.

Any questions may be directed to Dale Schill at Our Lady Academy, 467-7048.

FOOD FEST—Getting ready for Our Lady Academy's fifth annual International Food Fest are, from left, Sister Jacqueline; Jan Scardino, OLA student body president and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scardino of Pass Christian, and Sister Elisa.

FASHION SHOW—Ellen Kage, left, models an animal print sweater featuring a beaded tiger motif and a pair of tapered leg trousers while Johnnie Mae Akers shows a tiger print all-purpose coat. Animal print clothing will be one of the main attractions at "Falling for Our Fashions," to be presented at a noon luncheon Tuesday at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. The program is being sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Ladies Auxiliary and will feature a variety of fall and holiday fashions from The Princess Shoppe. Jane Ann Fahey will serve as coordinator for the show. Billie Snider will be chairperson and Edith Wilhelm will be pianist. Models in addition to Akers and Kane include Malin Chamberlain, Theresa Bourgeois, Elizabeth St. Pe, Pat Lea, Patsy Dubuisson, Nancy Uram, Molly Hadden, Janice Gaudin, Erin Hadden, Linda Kidd, Diane Edrington and Bobbie Goodell. Toast To The Coast relocates to Ellis residence on Scenic

The fourth annual Toast to the Coast will have a new flavor this year because it will be held at a new location.

Over 1,200 people attended last year and this new location will accommodate an even larger group.

This year's chairman, Mrs. Donald E. Theriot, met in July with Toast to the Coast auctioneer, Larry McCoil, to discuss plans for the upcoming fundraiser.

The format for the party will begin with Gulf Coast restaurants and caterers serving their specialty dishes from 7 until 9 p.m.

The Crafty Homemakers Extension Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Winona Weinmann on Monday, Sept. 28. Mrs. Minnie Geiger, president, opened the meeting followed by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Roslyn Weathers, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes of the previous meeting as well as the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Weinmann read the devotional which was taken from Romans 12:4-13 on "Encouragement," what we do and give to others, and what we, in turn, get out of it by doing so.

Mrs. Ethel Mae Fillingame, vice president, read a prayer pertaining to 'love your neighbor,' which was followed by a lively discussion on helping senior citizens overcome depression, and what the future holds in store for all, young or old.

Mrs. Geiger reported on the last council meeting she attended, the success of the 200th anniversary party, and the topic of the month, 'Self-Esteem' and how it applies to all.

Mrs. Weathers was congratulated by members on the 'Outstanding Woman of the American Legion Auxiliary' award and she told them of the highlights of her trip to the national convention in San Antonio in August.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary

Calling for help should be as simple as dialing the phone or knocking on a neighbor's door. But for many elderly or disabled persons living alone, it can be a frightening experience, especially if a fall or medical emergency makes it impossible to reach the phone.

The Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary in Bay St. Louis recognizes this problem and is pleased to announce that they have purchased a personal emergency response system called Securecall, and home units are available for individuals.

Securecall is a personal emergency response system that works through the telephone lines. It consists of a base unit, and two wireless transmitters.

One is a small wireless pendant transmitter that can be worn around the neck, or carried in a pocket. The hand-held transmitter is to be placed in the bathroom in case of a fall, or can be carried outside when going to the mailbox, etc. This hand-held unit has a range of 200 feet from the base unit.

Securecall protection means never being alone. Securecall has 24-hour a day protection, 365 days a year at the press of a button.

When a life-threatening situation occurs, whether the situation requires medical, police or fire assistance, simply press a button and immediately life-saving help is on the way. The Securecall system notifies a professionally trained and manned emergency control center. Immediately within seconds, help is received and emergency personnel are on their way.

The phone automatically dials for help and the system will work even if the receiver is off the hook, or if there is a power interruption. All vital medical and security history is stored in Securecall's computers and, at the press of a button, all vital information appears on Securecall monitoring screens.

The Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary is now offering this service so hundreds of older and handicapped persons can live secure and independent lives in their own homes without fear of life-threatening emergencies. For many Securecall can replace costly nursing care.

More information about the Securecall system and its cost is available by calling Hancock Medical Center 467-9081, extension 2180, Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call Edna Klempeter Securecall Chairman 467-7976.

ETV to review design of the workplace

The second program in the new ETV series "America By Design" is scheduled for Monday.

The title of this segment is "America By Design: The Workplace."

The program traces the changes that have taken place in the American workplace during our history. The program will examine why we work where we do.

Development of the structures where Americans work will be traced, including mill, factories, and office towers—many of which are landmarks on the face of the nation.

Designs by architects Frank Lloyd Wright, Albert Kahn, and Louis Sullivan will be discussed. For most of us in this country, the workplace holds an importance that is rivaled only by the family home—partly because nearly one-third of our lives is spent where we earn our living.

"America By Design" is a co-production of Guggenheim Productions, Inc. and WTTW/Chicago. The series is produced and directed by Werner Schumann and is hosted by architectural historian and author, Spiro Kostof.

Mississippi architectural firms have joined with the National Endowment for the Arts, the American Institute of Architects and other agencies in sponsorship of the series. Providing support for the second program in the series, "The Workplace" are these Mississippi firms: Inner Office, Inc.; Dean/Dale & Dean Architects, P.A.; Architects Brumfield & Hopton, Ltd. and Slaughter & Allred, P.A.

Monday's presentation is the second program in this five part series "America By Design."

Exception: Houses fronting on Highway 603 where installation must be on the homeowner's property.

To choose the type of installation wanted homeowners should do the following:

Those who prefer a street installation and

1. Have already signed an easement. You must by October 15, notify the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District in writing, Post Office Box 265, Waveland, MS 39576, that you prefer to have a street installation.

2. Have not already signed the documents. Do nothing and the installation will be placed in the street right-of-way automatically.

Those who prefer the installation to be on their property and

1. Have already signed and submitted the easement papers. Contact the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District to confirm the private property installation.

2. Have not signed an easement. Furnish to the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District the properly executed documents plus evidence of clear title to the property by October 15. Failure to do so will result in a street installation.

Advantages and disadvantages associated with each type of installation:

Street Installation

Advantages:

1. Owner unrestricted in use of property
2. Contractor will not work on property. Any digging on private property is owner's responsibility
3. All maintenance performed outside of property boundaries

Disadvantages:

1. Higher tie in cost to property owner
2. Possible problems in achieving slope of gravity flow line from house to unit
3. Unit and pole subject to damage from vehicles, machinery, etc., which may increase maintenance costs
4. Service pole highly visible and unattractive-control panel will be mounted minimum of five feet above ground level
5. Cost of poles may increase construction cost to individual homeowner
6. Highly susceptible to vandalism

Private Property Installation

Advantages:

1. Minimum tie in cost to homeowners
2. Unit can be better protected from damage
3. May be located at homeowners designated spot
4. More attractive appearance
 - a. no service pole-control panel mounted on house
 - b. less "visible" to casual observer
5. Less susceptible to vandalism

Disadvantages:

1. Permanent restriction on use of property
2. Access to property for maintenance must be granted
3. Contractor and equipment come onto property for installation

Some frequently asked questions:

Q. Do I have to tie into the sewerage system?

A. Yes, the Environmental Protection Agency grant conditions require that when sewerage is available, everyone must tie in.

Q. What will my tie-in cost be?

A. The plumbing cost to connect the house sewerage discharges to the grinder pump and the electrical cost to provide a 220 volt electrical circuit to the control panel. These costs will be incurred by the homeowner whether installation is on street or on private property. Installation must be done by licensed plumber and licensed electrician.

Q. Can I still discharge "gray water" from (shower, tub, sink, washing machine, etc.) into the canal, bayou, or ditch?

A. No, all discharge must be connected to this sewerage system.

Q. Can two or more homeowners share and connect to a single grinder pump unit?

A. No.

Q. What will happen to my existing septic tank?

A. The septic tank may not be used after sewerage is available. A final decision about pumping out, filling, removing, or simply abandoning the septic tank has not been made yet.

Q. What is the last day I can notify the district to confirm a private property installation?

A. October 15. Easements not received by that date with confirmation of clear title and unaltered service agreement will result in a street installation.

Pass firm gets Defense Department Research Award

JACKSON—Three small hi-tech firms in Mississippi received five Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) awards from the Defense Department during the current fiscal year which began last Oct. 1. Under SBIR, 11 large federal agencies with substantial research and development budgets must direct a fixed percentage of their R&D contracts to small companies. The Defense Department said it had received 7,533 proposals and had accepted 1,215 so far "as offering the greatest potential in their field for meeting the research and development needs of the Department of Defense." While Defense and the other federal agencies make the awards, the Small Business Administration coordinates and supervises the SBIR program. Jack Spradling, director of SBA's Jackson Mississippi District office, congratulated the state firms winning the Defense Department awards. Spradling said the SBIR program "is aimed at stimulating technological innovation, encouraging small hi-tech firms to take part in government research and providing incentives for conversion of research results into commercial applications."

The Defense Department awards, averaging $50,000 each, were made under SBIR Phase I, which is intended to permit the determination of the scientific or technical merit of the project. The most promising of Phase I projects then are awarded further funds under SBIR Phase II. The third part, Phase III, is aimed at bringing an idea, product or technology into commercial production. Other participating agencies are the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Education, Energy, Health and Human Services and Transportation. Environmental Protection Agency, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, National Science Foundation and Nuclear Regulatory Commission. In Fiscal 1987, small hi-tech firms are expected to receive about $400 million in SBIR awards, for an estimated $1 billion awarded during the first five years of the program. Companies in Mississippi receiving Defense Department awards are Gulf Weather Corp., Pass Christian; Elshohly Labs, Inc., Oxford; and Innovation Technology, Inc., Hattiesburg.
